We are celebrating an organizational milestone with the news that we have been granted 501c3 nonprofit status and are recognized as a fully-fledged charitable organization by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), U.S. Department of the Treasury.

We could not have made this great achievement without the support from our Board of Directors and staff of the IACS. We will continue our mission to address critical issues relating to transnational threats worldwide by conducting global research and local fieldwork and empowering current and future leaders, civil societies, international organizations, and governments.
